FEATURED SPEAKERS
Thursday, April 8 at 6:30PM (ET) – Varsity Life: Penn Student Voices
The culmination of our celebration. What being a student athlete really involves at a school like Penn, recognizing the many skill sets at play and separating fact from fiction about this often misunderstood, underappreciated dual identity.

MICHEL BARTOLO, C'21 (Penn Varsity Men’s Lacrosse)
Mitch Bartolo is a senior captain on the men's lacrosse team, studying Economics in the College of Arts and Sciences. He grew up in Norwalk, Connecticut, where he played football, basketball, and lacrosse throughout his childhood. He has also been on numerous panels since this past summer regarding Racial Awareness and Social Justice for Penn Athletics.

HENRY SHERWOOD CABALLERO, C'21 (Penn Varsity Men’s Soccer)
Henry Sherwood Caballero is a senior on the men's soccer team studying Political Science and double-minoring in Computer Science and Latin American & Latinx Studies. He grew up in New York City, where he started playing soccer at 6 years old. At Penn, Henry is a member of the Cipactli Latinx Honors Society, and was recently awarded the Penn Men’s Soccer ‘Team Values’ Award. He also works with Athletics Operations at Penn and has thoroughly enjoyed working at athletic events all around campus. In his free time, Henry loves listening to Bad Bunny and Olivia Rodrigo, playing board games with his friends, and trying new sports.

MICHAEL JONES, C'21 (Penn Varsity Women’s Basketball)
Michael Jones is a senior from Thibodaux, Louisiana majoring in Health and Societies in the College of Arts & Sciences with a concentration in Health Care Markets and Finance. She serves as a mentor for Beat the Streets and Believe in Better, and is a member of several social justice initiatives on campus. After graduation from Penn, she will be a Research Coordinator in Cardiology at the HUP for two years, then plans to attend medical school.

Moderator:
KAYLA PADILLA, W'23 (Penn Varsity Women’s Basketball)
Kayla Padilla is a current sophomore and Southern California native enrolled in Wharton looking to concentrate in Finance and Entrepreneurship. In addition to her studies, she is on the marketing committee of the Wharton Undergraduate Sports Business Club, a representative of Penn Athletics on the SNF Paideia Student Advisory Board, and a proud member of the Penn Women’s Basketball Team. In April of 2020, Kayla created The Sideline Post — the first ever digital platform that allows collegiate athletes to share their stories firsthand. Kayla is excited to lead this important discussion using her experiences as a current student-athlete and founder of The Sideline Post.